

Government moves to curb banditry as police college opens

BY KAMANJA MAERIA, KNA

The State has established a National Government Administration Police (NGAP) tactical training college in Igembe North Constituency in a bid to end persistent banditry in the northern grazing zone.

Constructed at Rikithathia-Mutuati, the facility, which has already received its first batch of trainees, is expected to serve as a permanent security buffer zone in a region long plagued by cattle rustling and insecurity.

Senior Assistant Inspector General and NGAP Commandant Isaac Alimaa said the camp will remain operational even after the current recruits complete their training, assuring residents of sustained security presence.

"This camp is here to stay. Its presence will enhance security and restore confidence among residents," said Alimaa, who also thanked the Meru County Government for its support, including provision of water.

He noted that beyond security, the camp will boost the local economy through job creation and supply opportunities for surrounding communities.

The training facility is expected to host up to 5,000 trainees, with about 1,500 already on the ground and more expected to report in phases.

Igembe North MP Julius Taitumu, who hosted NGAP and other security officials at Rikithathia, said the establishment of the camp will play a key role in tackling cattle rustling and stabilizing the region.

The legislator urged for supplies such as food, petroleum products, and labour to be sourced locally to ensure residents benefit directly from the project.

He also pledged support towards construction of an administration block and an army to strengthen the facility's operations.

Local leaders described the project as historic, attributing its success to unity and cooperation among leaders and the community.

County government representative Jacob Mantili said the presence of the camp demonstrates the government's commitment to protecting residents and restoring normalcy in the region.

He also thanked residents of Amwathi for donating land for the project.

Residents narrated the heavy toll of insecurity, noting that many herders had fled with their livestock to areas such as Ndoleti following repeated bandit attacks.

"There are no cows or goats left here. People had to move to protect their livestock," said Kobia Mutia, a resident of Kasiuru in Mutuati Sub-County.

Security operations have since been reinforced, with additional officers, vehicles, and a Recce Unit deployed in Ndumuru to strengthen surveillance and response.
